

DECONSTRUCTING A DOCUMENT USING ANALYSIS AND EVALUATION OF EVIDENCE

*****Place a piece of paper under this document!

- 1. Highlight each example in yellow
- 2. Number each example to the right of the document beside the example
- 3. Answer these questions on a word document for example1:
  - a. Who is the author of the study or definition?
  - b. Will the author make money off the information? Vested interest
  - c. When was it published? Stated?
  - d. Who did the study? Or Who published the study?
  - e. How long was the study? How many people were in the study?
  - f. Are there real-life examples? Countries, cities, situations
  - g. What country did the study take place?
  - h. Is it relevant to the title?
  - i. Is the data analyzed?
  - j. Is there a correlation between the data and the analysis?
  - k. Is the analysis of the data correct?
  - l. Are any fallacies used in the logic?
  - m. Is the content of the evidence important to the article?
  - n. Is the content of the evidence significant?
- 4. Write a paragraph about the strengths and weaknesses of the evidence using the material above as the basis of your analysis.
- 5. Write an evaluative conclusion to the analysis. Make a supported judgement.

6. Repeat.