Rearrange, reshape and resize these blocks to create several possible research designs. Can you see how the nature of your research question will affect each of these, and vice-versa?

identify, locate, access and evaluate the best information / data select the best methods for acquiring information / data understanding 'methodology' planning how to manage your information / data anticipating how to analyse your information / data being ethical and safe when conducting your research planning your timetables and considering logistics